The City Of Gnomes

Writer: Julian Philips

Illustrator: Pieter Coudyzer

Art Example 1

Art Example 2

"There's no home for a gnome like his gnome-home," Rappatapp said, wagging his finger in the air and drooling a little (or he was very old).

But Mr. Bill and I'll just laughed. "When we find riches in gold or fine chocolates, then you'll approve," Mr. Bill told Rappatapp.

They left Rappatapp at night, and wandered like three very short and lonely ghosts through hills and lands and valleys and rivers, never quite sure what was ahead.

The City Of Gnomes

Three gnomes set out to discover a mysterious city, and are captured by a monster. These adventurous gnomes are looking for treasure, but what they find is a city called Happiness, where not everyone is happy. In fact, everyone has left the strange town because of the monster. When the monster captures them, a special friend back in Gnome City brings help and saves the day.

Art Example 2

He was an absolutely wonderful cat who seemed to have found a perfect and permanent home. He must have been a party cat some time in his life because when the young couple entertained their friends, he would demand to be included in the party so that he could enjoy eating potato chips, buffed olives and anything else that was being served to their guests. He didn't limit his desire to food, either.

Art Example 3

Bomba

A big, Siamese cat is found by some neighborhood children. They take him to the young girl who lives next door, but he runs away and crosses the nearby railroad tracks. They chase after him and are almost killed by a passing express train. The young girl adopts the cat and soon learns that he has some strange habits.

"What are the Martians like?"
"Very friendly, and lovable. They aren't very big,
and prefer to live peacefully underground.
They don't want to attract too much attention to themselves, so they tell us."
"Why not?" Hannah asked.
"You have to consider things
from their point of view.
They don't like the noise of war, despite what some of your science fiction writers
might have told you.
They are still a lot like some civilizations that used to be on this planet, and they want to stay that way.
They've been observing what goes on here for centuries."

Maximus Trax: Intergalactic Traveller
Hannah is out for a walk on a typical Saturday morning when she finds a battered suitcase. It is covered with travel stickers from places like Atlantis and Mars. The owner of the suitcase, a young man named Maximus Trax, appears and tells of his remarkable travels.
